DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. Claims 1-3, 5, 27-29, and 34 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

As concerns claims 1 and 34, the phrase "tape-like" is inappropriate and renders the claims as vague and indefinite.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

Claims 1-3, 5-21, 23-30, and 32-36 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Japanese Patent of Sasaki et al 8,242,526 in view of Nimiya et al 4,933,512.

As concerns claims 1-3, 5-21, 23-30, and 36, Sasaki et al set forth the invention including a closure comprising a pair of semicylindrical sleeve members 1 vertically separable surrounding a cable connection section, wherein each has an abutting joint surface on the sides through which the sleeve members are joined; end plates 3 on opposite ends of the sleeve, each formed of rubber plastic and having a cable guide hole 20 with a sealing member including a plurality of peak and valley shaped grooves (best illustrated in Figure 6) integrally formed on the outer periphery surface of the end plates and extending circumferentially; hinges and fasteners, inclusive of members 27,28,30,34, releasably hooked between and connecting the sleeve members; end plates formed with slits, inclusive of 22,25, extending from the guide holes to an outer periphery of the end plate; and guide hole caps 21 with rigidity holding members viewed as the surfaces between the cap and the holes. What Sasaki et al does not show is a tape gasket including an adhesive between the end plates and the sleeves. However, Nimiya et al shows a tape gasket 60 including an adhesive, discussed in column 7 lines 15-20 and illustrated in figures 6a, 6b, and 7, between the end plates 40 and the sleeves 20. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made, to modify the closure of Sasaki et al by incorporating an tape gasket including an adhesive between the end plates and the sleeves, as taught by Nimiya et al, in order to increase the sealing capabilities between the plates and the sleeves, and to provide a secondary sealing means between the plates and the sleeves in case the inherent sealing capabilities of the plate fail.

As concerns claims 32-34, Sasaki et al set forth the invention, as advanced above, including a clamp including a clamp body with a recess and a curved holding member fastened to the body by a mounting member; and the cable guide recesses and the curved holding member provided with holding spacers.

As concerns claim 35, Sasaki et al set forth the invention, as advanced above, including the hinges including ring receiving portions and holding recesses.

Response to Amendment

3. Applicant's remarks filed March 8, 2002 have been fully considered but they are not deemed to be persuasive.

As concerns remarks pertaining to the combination of Sasaki et al in view of Nimiya et al and the "need for modification", the examiner reiterates once again the position that Nimiya et al teach the use of a gasket between end plates and sleeves of a cable closure. Therefore, it would have been obvious to modify the closure of Sasaki et al by incorporating a gasket between the end plates and the sleeves in order to increase the sealing capabilities between the plates and the sleeves, and to provide a secondary sealing means between the plates and the sleeves in case the inherent sealing capabilities of the plate fail.

As concerns remarks pertaining to independent claims 32 and 34 and the holding spacers being "detachable", the examiner takes the position that a limitation of the holding spacers being "detachable" cannot be found within the instant claim language. Further, the closure and/or clamping members being formed from several members connected together and/or detachably attached would be considered as an "integration of parts" and not considered as patentable subject matter within an apparatus claim.

Request for Continued Examination

2. All claims are drawn to the same invention claimed in the application prior to the entry of the submission under 37 CFR 1.114 and could have been finally rejected on the grounds and art of record in the next Office action if they had been entered in the application prior to entry under 37 CFR 1.114. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL even though it is a first action after the filing of a request for continued examination and the submission under 37 CFR 1.114. See MPEP § 706.07(b). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
